NINE YEARS AGO TODAY

As Recorded in the Files of the Daily Telegram

May 24, 1904, was Sunday and no issue of the Daily Telegram was published that day, on that account this record will mark back nine years ago.

A sensational damage suit instituted by Nancy J. Griffin, of Tennessee district, against Mrs. Harriett R. Strother, who formerly resided there but later here, was started in the circuit court. The plaintiff alleged that Mrs. Strother alienated the affections of her husband, Lafayette Griffin, who mysteriously disappeared from home.

Raymond J. Gazley leased the Waldo hotel, succeeding Col. G. A. Keeler, who gave up his lease to take the management of Foxaway Inn at Lake Foxaway, N. C.

Guy R. Sinsel, of Philippi, a former resident, came here with his wife to attend a family reunion celebrating Mr. and Mrs. Sinsel's fifth wedding anniversary.

The contract was let for the construction of the glass plant and furnace of the Clarksburg Opalescent Glass Works to C. E. Holden, of Mineral City, O.

Three rear coaches of the morning passenger train on the Monongahela River division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, were derailed near the Hazel-Atlas glass factory, by the breaking of an axle of the tender. No one was hurt.

Standard Oil officials, headed by John D. Archbold, were here in two special Pullman cars to inspect the W. J. Summit and Salem oil fields.

Sell Reed, a young man, said he was glad he was going to jail when Justice Samuel W. Gordon committed him in default of $1,000 bail on a charge of breaking into John D. Primm's henhouse and stealing eight fat fowls.

Col. Thomas B. Seely, proprietor of the Traders hotel, went to Beverly, O., to look after some oil wells in that section.

A farmers' institute closed at Boothsville.

Adamston was erecting a council hall and jail building.

Patrick H. Shields was mayor of the city.

The forthcoming opening of Union Park theater with the Elmoor Stock Company as the attraction was announced.

The Rev. S. K. Arbuthnot was pastor of Goff Methodist Episcopal church.

J. W. Dodge was conducting a wall paper and paint shop in Oak Hall.

In Oklahoma and Washington the expenditures for public schools each year amount to about seventy-five cents for each $400 in wealth, and this proportion is nearly four times as great as that found in such states as Wyoming and New Mexico.
